CONFERENCE

WED 29th - THURS 30th OCTOBER 2025

Parmelia Hilton, Perth

THE AUSTRALASIAN HYDROGRAPHIC SOCIETY & THE SOCIETY FOR UNDERWATER TECHNOLOGY CO-HOST THEIR 13TH AUTONOMOUS MARINE TECHNOLOGY CONFERENCE

Returning in 2025, the Autonomous Marine Technology Conference (AMT) – formerly Autonomous Underwater Technology Conference, will be held in Perth, Western Australia in October. The conference aims to showcase the rapid advances in the AMT field along with demonstrating real world and future potential applications of the different technologies within our marine environment.

This long running and well reputed conference continues to be one of the most globally essential knowledge centres and networking opportunities in this field, allowing delegates to meet with industry leaders, academics and researchers in this innovative section of subsea development.

In addition, you'll gain invaluable insights and new learnings about technology advances and recent case studies of AMT equipment to assist in your professional development.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND?

The conference provides an ideal networking opportunity for all types of professions working in robotics, autonomous systems and artificial intelligence in the maritime industry.

Delegates are welcomed from Defence, Australian based and international operators, manufacturers/suppliers of technology products and software, engineering organisations, service companies and educational establishments.

The conference will provide an opportunity to come together to share information on operational experiences, as well as learning of new technologies and future developments in marine autonomy.
